SPECKLED MONSTER—Although she didn't realize it at the time, Robin Beech, 18, of BaySide Park picked National Fishing Week to land this monstrous nine-pound-four-ounce speckled trout off the rocks at the mouth of Bayou Cadet about 5 p.m. Monday. The huge speckle measured more than 27 inches long and 18 inches in girth. Beech said she burned up the Ambassador 5000 reel she was using during an approximately 15 minute battle to land the fish on 14-pound test monofilament line and a 5.5-foot Berkley graphite rod. The fish took a green sparkle beetle lure. Beech was fishing with her mother and step-father, Pat and Eugene Ramond, and Sandra and Marvin Lane, all of BaySide Park. Russell Elliott of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo official, said Wednesday the rodeo record for speckled trout is held by Francis Creel of Biloxi whose 10 pound-six ounce entry was caught in 1973. School board rules bond issue petition still short of names

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The Hancock County School Board adopted a resolution Monday stating there are not enough valid signatures on a petition calling for an election on a proposed school bond issue.

Bond counsel for board members, David Watkins of Brunini, Grantham, Grower and Hewes of Jackson, told the board he believed it in their best interest to make a supplemental adjudication on the petition.

"Since the board's initial action, additional names on the petition have been certified by the circuit clerk's office and if taken on face value would appear to be more than 1,500 signatures," Watkins said.

However, Superintendent Terrell Randolph has investigated and determined the number of signatures is still insignificant, he added.

According to Watkins, of the 1,606 certified signatures, 27 of these are by persons who do not reside in the school district, 32 names are duplicates where one person signed more than one name and 99 names have been removed by counter-petition. He also stated more names would probably be removed if the petition is contested.

"It is clear there has been some fraud and probably illegal conduct in having names of people on the petition who did not sign," Watkins said.

Watkins also reminded the board it is their duty, not the duty of the superintendent or the circuit clerk, to make the judgement of the petition.

"It is your obligation to be the judge, and the school board's place to decide what is the real nature of the petition," he continued.

Attorney Chuck Adams, also with the firm employed as bond counsel, asked the board to schedule a meeting for June 15 to open bids on the $6.6 million bonds.

He said the sale of bonds had been advertised in the local newspaper and a New York bond newspaper and letters announcing the sale had been mailed to 140 firms that might be interested in buying the bonds.

Adams also said the board should have the funds from the sale of bonds within 30-45 days after the bids are accepted.

These funds will be used for a building program including a new junior-senior high school, on a site somewhere near the entrance road to Stennis International Airport on Highway 603.

The site currently being considered for the new school is just off Highway 603 approximately a half mile from both Stennis Airport entrance road and Interstate 10.

This 40-acre site, donated to the school district by the Crump family, also may be accessed from Nicole Road.

County joins opposition to higher train speeds

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has agreed to go on record objecting to any increase in the speed of trains passing through populated sections of the Gulf Coast.

Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. asked the board to go on record Monday opposing a railroad speed limit increase proposed by CSX Transportation, Inc., which is currently pursuing the matter through a federal lawsuit including Waveland as a defendant.

Waveland currently has a local ordinance limiting railroad speed to 35 m.p.h., the highest allowed by the municipalities named in the suit.

The lowest speed allowed by a defendant in the suit is five m.p.h., the limit set by Jackson County for a 10-mile section of track outside Pascagoula.

According to Board President A.A. Kellar, Hancock County has no authority to set railroad speed limits.

However, the board agreed that the proposed 50 m.p.h. is too fast for populated areas and unanimously passed a resolution against an increased speed.

The resolution will be put in the form of a letter and will be given to Longo for inclusion in an information package the mayor will send to Congressman Trent Lott.

Lott has agreed to assist the city by presenting Waveland's views to the appropriate federal agencies.

Longo said he also plans to include a letter or resolution from Bay St. Louis, although the city has not had a railroad speed limit ordinance since 1965. In other business this week, the board:

—Authorized department heads to receive maintenance materials for the courthouse, although Sheriff Ronald Peterson, legally the custodian of the courthouse, will continue to sign all maintenance authorizations.

—Approved purchase of a dump trailer, which had been taken under advisement in a previous meeting.

—Gave Hancock County Assessor and Tax Collector Edward Murtagh and Reappraisal Specialist Lee Bennett authority to travel outside Hancock County on county business.

—Declared an emergency to allow repair of a broken air conditioner at the courthouse; and —Agreed to replace a county youth court clerk who is resigning. The next regular board meeting is set for 9 a.m. June 15.

The final day for voter registration for the August 4 primary election is Friday, July 3 at 5 p.m. Rutherford stated.

Persons can register and be able to vote on August 4 if they are at least the age of 18 by Aug. 3 Rutherford said.

Jones supporters turn out hearing to be continued

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District Board hearing for band director Lana Kay Jones has been continued after testimony from school officials and two other band directors.

A date for the continuation had not been set when the board recessed at about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday night.

Jones had been notified March 31 that she would not be re-employed for the 1987-88 school year. She then requested a hearing before the school board.

When Jones' attorney, John Deakle of Hattiesburg, found that the board members would act as hearing officers, he went to federal court in New Orleans, La. to try to obtain a temporary restraining order.

Judge Lansing Mitchell turned down the request for the restraining order, which would have kept the board from acting as hearing officers on the grounds that the same people who made the initial decision not to reemploy Jones could not render a fair and impartial final decision.

After several delays resulting from conflicts in attorneys' schedules, the hearing was reset for Tuesday.

Board President Betty Diboll, the first school official to arrive Tuesday, was met by a group of about 30 parents and band students carrying signs supporting Jones and criticizing the school board.

"The school board is pitiful," stated a sign carried by the group's spokesperson, Diane Major. Other signs carried statements including "No Mrs. Jones, no pride." A child dressed as an egg carried a sign stating, "Teachers walk on eggs."

"We don't want her to leave. We want her to stay here," Major explained.

"Before she came here, the band was really destroyed, torn down. We had no children to speak of, but she has rebuilt it. She may be hard, but she has really taught our children," she added.

Major added that she and other parents do not feel that the board has handled Jones' case fairly.

"They're not being fair, period. They don't believe in giving people a fair chance. Firing her for letting the kids sit down during a parade is stupid," Major explained.

Under the procedure involved in recommending teachers for contract renewal or nonreemployment, a teacher requesting a nonreemployment hearing before the board may ask for reasons for the nonreemployment recommendation in order to prepare for the hearing.

The letter Jones received in answer to her request for reasons was entered into evidence Tuesday and stated, "The reason for your nonreemployment is your failure to maintain adequate management of the Bay High School band."

"Specifically, during a Mardi Gras parade held during the 1986-87 school year, the students under your management on the parade route laid on the pavement and placed their instruments on the pavement; and when your students were preparing to play a piece of music, you stopped the students by loudly announcing to your band leader, 'Do these people look like they want to hear any music?'"

It was signed by Superintendent of Education Roger Oge.

Jones and Deakle met with the board in executive session for about one hour prior to the hearing, and at one point during the hearing Deakle stated that it had been agreed that items discussed during that executive session would not be brought up in open session.

Deakle called all of the witnesses heard Tuesday.

BOARD TESTIMONY

The first witness was Charles Benvenutti, who has been a board member for about six weeks but who stated that he was involved in the decision not to reemploy Jones.

Although he did not recall whether the decision took place at a regular meeting or one called specifically to discuss contracts, Benvenutti said he was the one who brought up the Jones contract.

When the letter stating the reasons for nonreemployment was shown to him, the board member stated that he had personally witnessed the incident at the parade.

He said there was "no other specific reason" that Jones was not reemployed.

"There was other discussion in regard to other things that might have happened at a prior period but this was the specific reason not to renew," Benvenutti stated.

"Specifically, this that I witnessed, in my opinion, was reason enough for not rehiring a teacher."

According to Benvenutti, the board did not discuss giving Jones a chance to tell her side of the story prior to notifying her that her contract would not be extended, nor did any board member look at her personnel file.

He said he had never seen the personnel file or discussed the matter with Jones prior to the recommendation and still has not.

Benvenutti said he remembered that Jones' supervising principal, Frank Ladner, had recommended that her contract be extended, but could not recall whether Oge had recommended her.

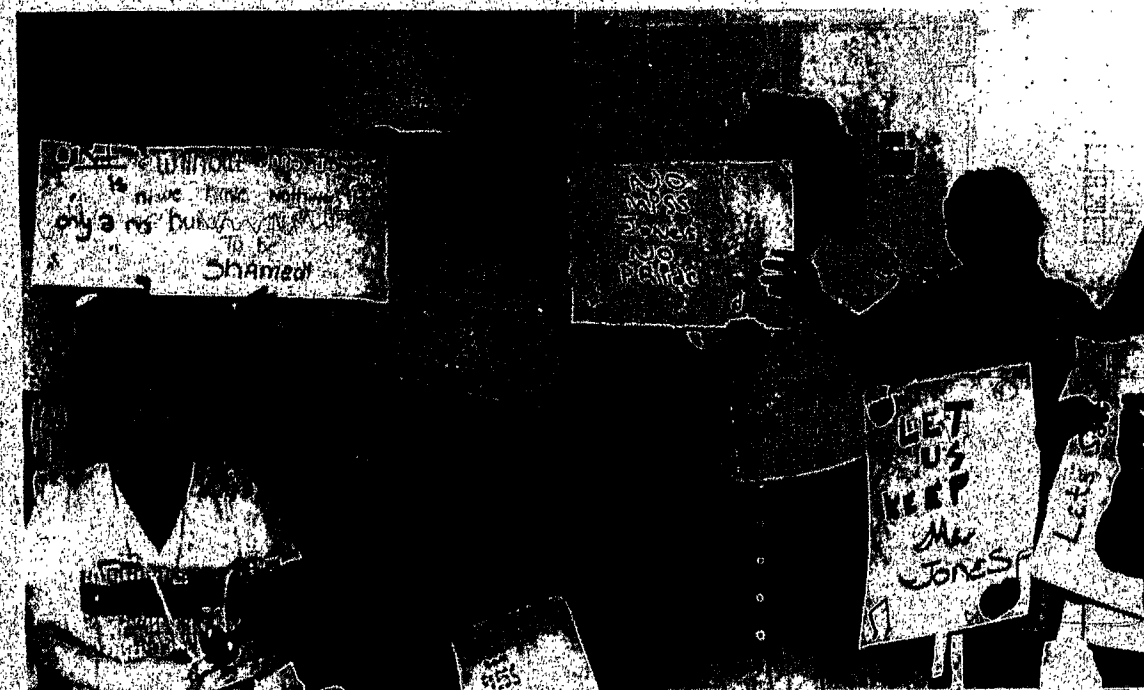

He said he does not know specifically how a teacher reprimand should be handled, but he believes the responsibility rests with Oge or Ladner.

Benvenutti, in response to Deakle's questioning, said he understood that the board was approached by a veteran's organization last year regarding the behavior of band students at a Veteran's Day parade.

Although he did not specifically describe the incident, Benvenutti said what happened was "general knowledge" and that he did not recall discussing it the night the board made the decision on Jones' contract.

He said he may have been given a copy of a letter complaining to the board about the incident by John Wilkerson, a member of the American Legion post involved, and

Lot size not to be considered in new utility rate structure

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The Bay St. Louis City Council agreed Tuesday to delete adjustments to utility rate bills based on lot size differences.

The council has been discussing a proposed revision of the city's utility rate ordinance which will mean a slight increase to many residential users and higher increase to commercial customers.

Including the lot size difference factor in figuring the bill was a recommendation by city officials.

Mayor Victor J. Frankiewicz told the council this method spread the capital cost of installing water and sewer lines proportionally among customers.

For example, the cost of putting lines along a 70-foot lot is less than the cost of installing the lines along a 200-foot lot.

However the council members stated this did not affect the actual usage of the lines and should not be a factor in determining a customer's bill.

Also at the meeting the city council adopted a resolution to support residents of the Dubuissin Community in their efforts to prevent the location of a proposed landfill in their area near the Interstate 10-Menge Avenue Exit in Harrison County.

The Mississippi Natural Resources Permit Board is currently considering a permit application by Waste Management of Mississippi, Inc., to operate a non-hazardous solid waste disposal facility on Firetower Road.

This location is only a few miles from Hancock County and area residents have been strenuously opposing the landfill for several months.

Waste Management has an option on a 10-acre site in the area to build the landfill and plans to expand southward.

E. K. MacDowell of the Stop the Dump committee played a tape of a song written about the situation and provided councilmen an information packet.

In the fight to stop the dump the group has collected several hundred signatures on petitions in opposition to the landfill and sent numerous letters to area representatives.

The council also upheld action by the Bay Board of Adjustments which approved a variance for B. C. Moss to increase the maximum building area from 25 percent to 28.5 percent. The variance also allowed reduction in minimum lot area square feet and a reduction in side, front and rear yard setbacks.

The council also upheld variance board action to deny a variance for reduction in lot width from 100 feet to 50 feet as requested by Fred Bilbo.

In other business the council voted to award a contract for emergency sewer line repairs on Carroll Avenue to Magnolia Construction Company Inc. of Baton Rouge, La.

Magnolia had a low bid of $121 per hour for the work which includes a 4-man crew and equipment. The city will furnish the pipe for the project.

This bid was $24 per hour less than the next lowest bid. There were five bids submitted for the project.

You always hear fishermen telling you the story about the 'big one' that got away, but this is a different story.

How does a 9 lb. 4 oz. speckle trout sound for being caught off the rock pile at the mouth of Bayou Cadet.

I know folks who have been fishing for years trying to nab a five-pound speckle trout much less one over nine pounds.

On Tuesday morning using a sparkle beetle, Robin Beech of BaySide Park landed the trophy speckle trout.

The trout was over 27 inches long with a girth of 18 inches. Now folks, that is a lot of speckle trout. I remember us taking a photo of one several years ago caught in a mullet net off the Bay Bridge a little over eight pounds.

All I can say to old fishing buddy Sam and all others trying for the big one is, keep trying because they are out there waiting to be caught.

Congratulations to Ms. Beech on nabbing her record trout.

On Friday night there will be a benefit spaghetti dinner for the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 139 Junior Auxiliary.

The dinner will be from 5 to 8 p.m. at the Legion Hall on Green Meadow Road in Bay St. Louis.

Tickets will be at the door for a donation of $3 each and takeouts will also be available.

The benefit dinner is for Junior Auxiliary members to help defray expenses for a trip to the state convention.

We are told the dinner is to be prepared by some of the area's best chefs.

We hope to see you at the spaghetti dinner.

With summer here there are many folks who enjoy the sport of crabbing.

In recent years there has been much debate about the taking of egg-bearing crabs in area waters.

New state regulations prohibit any person, firm or corporation from processing, selling, or offering for sale any sponge crabs (egg-bearing females) taken from the territorial waters of the State of Mississippi.

The law further states that all sponge crabs caught must be returned to the water immediately.

We are glad to see this legislation because if egg-bearing crabs are continued to be caught, one day we will run out of crabs all together.

Tomorrow, Friday, June 5 is the last day for persons to qualify in order to be a candidate in the upcoming elections.

This qualifying date is for Democrats, Republicans as well as Independent candidates. This is a change in the deadline for Independent candidates over previous elections.

The People's Business

A Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

THE POLLS ARE IN ON TORT REFORM

Perhaps no subject has been as thoroughly studied over the past two years as has the subject of tort reform. At least 25 polls or surveys have been taken at the national level, and a survey of business has been taken at the state level in Mississippi.

Though the polls and surveys have varied from organization to organization, and from state to state, responses have been consistent.

The response is clear: Overwhelmingly the public supports tort reform, and business urges immediate tort reform action.

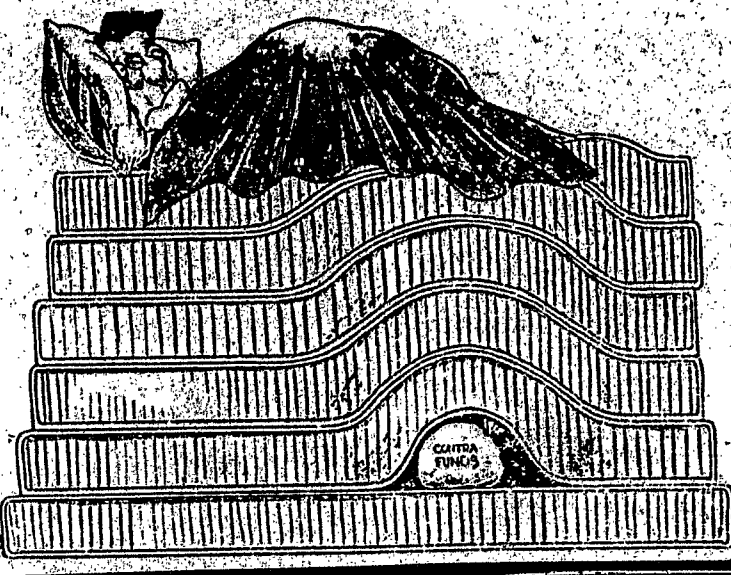

Among the surveys, studies by the American Business Conference and the Mississippi Economic Council struck a common chord.

In a June 1986 survey, the American Business Conference found that 65 percent of respondents—all chief executives of companies that doubled in size over the past five years—believed that the lack of tort reform was restricting growth in their industries by hampering risk-taking, innovation, and expansion of product lines.

In a similar survey in November 1986, the Mississippi Economic Council found similar circumstances in this state. In that survey, 46 percent of the respondents said they were being forced to make decisions adversely affecting their own economic expansion because of the lack of tort reform. Specific decisions mentioned included passing up of investment opportunities, delay of new products and services, reduction in the number of jobs, and even moving out of Mississippi because of unbridled liability exposure.

Some 39 other states have already enacted tort reform legislation. Mississippi can ill afford to wait longer.

Meeting the changing needs of our older citizens

Since its establishment in 1965, the Older Americans Act has been instrumental in allowing a number of older Americans the opportunity to maintain their independence through the services it provides.

Now, more than ever, as we find our elderly population growing faster than any other sector of our society, the programs provided for in this landmark legislation take on even greater meaning and significance.

In Mississippi, 11.9 percent of our population is 65 years or older. Many of these older Mississippians receive a wide range of services as a result of the Older Americans Act which are crucial, particularly for those living on fixed incomes.

County blood bank sets 100 unit goal

June, 1987

Dear Friend,

The American Red Cross Mobile Unit will be at the American Legion Home, Post No. 139, Bay St. Louis, on Wednesday, June 10, from 3 to 8 p.m. Our quota this blood drawing is 100 units.

Will you please assist by requesting your friends and relatives who are physically able and 17 years old or older to come in Wednesday afternoon and donate a unit of blood.

Your assistance in any way to make this drawing a success and productive, will not only be appreciated, but is essential to those who will need this blood.

Sincerely,

In the Fifth Congressional District, many seniors receive meals either in their homes or delivered to them via "meals on wheels." Others get subsidized rides to shopping centers, to their doctors and to senior centers, while more receive in-home homemaker and professional health-care services.

Many seniors benefit from the centers like the Hattiesburg Senior Services Center which are funded by this act. These centers provide education, exercise, entertainment and recreation for their members. They also are clubs where people can get together and socialize.

America's older citizens are the men and women who have spent their lives building our nation as we now know it. They are the veterans of World War II, the people who have retired from our shipyards and our plants, and the parents and grandparents of the men and women who will shape the future of the United States.

It is only fitting that Congress should continue funding programs which help feed and care for our seniors, so I was very pleased to support the Older Americans Act Amendments of 1987 which recently passed the House of Representatives.

The newly passed amendments reauthorize all the programs in the 1965 Act through 1991 and add new programs for frail elderly people living at home and for long-term care facilities.

The flexibility of state and local agencies to meet the unique needs of their communities is protected in the bill, preserving the important community-based aspect of the act.

The original Older Americans Act of 1965 set a precedent for programs to assist our older population, and we need to maintain that tradition.

Considering all of the nurture and benefit we have received from them, this bill is an appropriate way to express our gratitude.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

JACKSON—Earlier this week in the White House rose garden, with the nation's top military brass and leaders of veterans organizations looking on, President Reagan signed into law the Montgomery G.I. Bill, named appropriately for Mississippi Cong. G. V. Sonny Montgomery.

Hailed as possibly the best military investment this country can make, the measure provides college educational benefits to post July 15, 1965 enlistees in the regular services, and reserves similar to the G.I. Bill which helped 16 million World War II veterans.

Montgomery, Mississippi's Third District representative in Congress for the past 21 years, had pushed the measure through both branches of the Congress earlier this year by remarkable votes—401-2 in the House and 89-0 in the Senate—after overcoming initial opposition from the Reagan Administration.

The easy-going Mississippi Democrat, who had backed Reagan programs during most of the president's first term, smilingly says that the administration "got on board when they saw they couldn't lick us."

Under the bill, those eligible will be entitled to $10,800 in college benefits after a three-year enlistment, if they agree to have their pay reduced $100 a month for the first year of enlistment. Those on active duty from enlistments prior to July 15, 1965 would get additional educational benefits for re-enlistments.

Select reservists or National Guardsmen can qualify for $140 per month college education benefits for three years if they enlisted or extend their enlistments after July 15, 1965.

Montgomery's measure had been in effect on a temporary basis for the past two years but was slated to terminate in 1988 until he pushed to make it a permanent part of the incentives for maintaining high quality military personnel.

Already the program has proved its value, Montgomery says, by shifting the level of enlistees in the service from the lower 50 percent of high school graduates to the upper 50 percent. "What's happening is we are attracting quality young men and women," said the Meridian congressman. "We're not just taking bodies anymore."

Montgomery, a long time leader in the nation's defense posture, said "It is essential that we get smart kids to operate the complicated equipment we now have in the military services. We need quick learners and good minds not to tear up this sophisticated equipment and know how to operate it when it is needed."

The ability to use complicated military hardware was dramatically brought home to the American people in the recent missile attack on the U.S.S. Stark, Montgomery pointed out.

What the Montgomery G.I. Bill apparently will make secure is the ability of the United States to maintain a voluntary army without the need for instituting a peacetime draft.

"I had previously introduced a bill to give the president standby power to draft up to 200,000 men a year, but now I don't see where we are going to need a draft for a long time down the road," Montgomery said.

The tall, slender 66-year-old congressman has built his reputation in Washington as a good friend of the veteran and Americans in military uniform. No one on Capitol Hill now has more clout than Montgomery in the area of veterans affairs.

Long before it became fashionable for members of Congress to go to Vietnam, Montgomery was going to Southeast Asia on a regular basis to visit the U.S. personnel there.

Thousands of parents (including this one) who had sons in Vietnam are eternally grateful that the Mississippi congressman visited with them in that faraway place at Christmastime. That was something Montgomery did for seven successive years during the worst times of the war.

For some years, Montgomery has been unbeatable in his east-central Mississippi district. Not even the Republicans have challenged him the last 16 years, and he has been re-elected five times with no Democratic opponent.

On several occasions over the last decade, Montgomery had been considered a prospect for governor or the Senate. But those notions are now a thing of the past.

Technology Transfer Center makes state competitive

The State of Mississippi and the National Space Technology Laboratories near Bay St. Louis will host a special dedication ceremony on June 11, marking the official kickoff of the Mississippi Technology Transfer Center, located at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's NSTL facility.

We are inviting the public to join us in this ceremony, scheduled to be held at 3 p.m. in front of the new building. The $4 million building was funded by the state under authority of the Legislature. It is a two-story structure, 52,000 square foot building, located in the NSTL administrative complex.

The Technology Transfer Center will give Mississippi approximately 250 high quality jobs to administer the technology that is the work of the center. This new technology will make Mississippi a leader in research in the nation.

Today's competitive marketplace requires states to delve into the world of high technology in order to be competitive for jobs and industry. The Technology Transfer Center will complement the research work already being conducted at NSTL.

We believe this unique combination of future focus, combined with the work being conducted at the state's research universities, will make Mississippi more competitive than ever before.

The dedication ceremonies will feature Rear Admiral Richard Truly, NASA's associate administrator for Space Flight at the NASA center in Houston, Texas.

A Mississippi native, Admiral Truly will return home for this special occasion and we are very proud to have his participation in the Technology Transfer Center dedication.

In addition, the dedication will also include participation from Jerry Haas, NSTL director, and Roy Estess, deputy director of NSTL.

I look forward to seeing as many Mississippians as we can at the dedication on June 11 as we all look ahead to the future of our state.

SCHOOL SITE—This odd-shaped box on a map showing flood zones indicates the 40-acre site donated to the Hancock County School Board for the location of a new high school. Size and placement of the site was completed by comparison from a map showing the site provided by the Hancock County have already been obtained by a private individual to construct a sewage collection system nearby which would service the site.

Tax Assessor's Office. The entire 40-acre site is located in shaded areas indicating Zones B and A. This designation indicates areas, which reportedly will only flood once in every 100 to 500 years and for insurance purposes requires no base flood elevation.

Questions have been raised at recent meeting by citizens concerned about the suitability of the site.

Among information gathered to prove the site suitable is an engineer's report, showing the elevation of the site as 11 feet-six inches.

Board Member Billie Faye Lyons reported in Monday's meeting she had checked an insurance company's flood map and determined the site was not in a zone with a high flood probability rate.

Also in the meeting, Randolph presented the board a letter from Donn Murray, Hancock County

Building Official, who stated according to a preliminary survey, the proposed new school site will be in Flood Zone C, which means the "ground elevation is of sufficient height" and a building permit will not be required.

"With a good drainage plan you should have a good site for construction," he continued.

The board recently awarded a contract to have soil boring made at the site to gather additional information on the suitability of the site.

In addition to opening bids on the bonds at the June 15 meeting the board is expected to schedule interviews with six architectural firms, which recently submitted proposals on the building program.

Bond set at $1,500 in mischief arrest

BY DENA BISNETTE

A man who allegedly pulled up and destroyed 25 mail boxes has been released from the Hancock County Justice Facility on $1,500 bond.

According to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Glen Strong, Robert E. Myers, 19, of Route 1, Box 38, Piquette, was arrested June 2 and charged with malicious mischief in the incident, which occurred May 30.

Malicious mischief is a misdemeanor charge, but the amount of damage was considered in setting bond, Strong stated.

Two 17-year-old juveniles are still being sought in connection with the damage.

Deputies Nathan Hoda Jr. and Nathan Hoda Sr. are assisting in investigation.

STUBBORN FIRE—Some 20 firefighters with five trucks from the Kiln, Fenton and Leetown Volunteer Fire Departments worked more than 2.5 hours Monday night to extinguish a blaze at the home of Wanda and Burnell Holliman on Tall Moran Road off Hwy. 603 in The Kiln which apparently originated in the kitchen about 8 p.m. Firemen left the scene after 10:30 p.m. but the fire rekindled at 11 p.m. and again at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday, eventually leveling the structure. Chief David A. Spence of Kiln VFD speculated the fire may have originated at the kitchen stove. The Hollimans and their three children—Tiffany, 13; Jennifer, 11, and Perry, 10—were all away from the house when the blaze broke out. However, they have lost all their clothing and other possessions, including new furniture recently purchased on credit. The house and contents were only partially covered by insurance, according to Mrs. Glorine Moran of Fire Tower Road, Mrs. Holliman's mother. (Echo staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Scouts receive top award

Jennifer Burrows, Alison Miller and Melinda Miller, senior Girl Scouts from Bay St. Louis, have completed requirements for Girl Scouting's top award, the Girl Scout Gold Award.

Each received her award at a recent Gulf Pines Council Annual Awards Banquet at the Royal d'Iberville in Biloxi.

The Girl Scout Gold Award recognizes a senior Girl Scout's commitment to excellence. To earn it, she had to design and carry out a plan of activities covering community service, career exploration, specialized interest projects and leadership skills.

Miss Burrows and the misses Miller are from Bay St. Louis Troop 27, their adult advisor is Mrs. John Holmes. Each also holds the second highest award in Girl Scouting, the Girl Scout Silver Award.

Miss Burrows is the daughter of Larry and Crystal Burrows. She has been in Girl Scouting eleven years and is a junior at Our Lady Academy.

The misses Miller are daughters of Don and Dianne Miller. Both have been in Girl Scouting eight years and are sophomores at Our Lady Academy.

that he received a copy distributed to board members about three weeks ago.

He contended, however, that the Wilkerson letter was not the reason for the decision about Jones.

"I was aware of the problem. Once you know of a problem, you can't put it completely out of your mind," Benvenuti said.

Deakle then asked Benvenuti whether he knew anything about an application for a band director position filed with the school district by Gary Adam, son of a school district employee.

Benvenuti stated that he had known nothing about the application prior to the decision.

"This came up as a rumor subsequent to the board's decision," said the board member, telling Deakle, "If you say it's a fact, that's fine, but I'm not aware of it."

Benvenuti said there was some discussion, the specifics of which he could not recall, that dealt with improvement of the band under Jones and the more favorable competition scores it had received since she had served as director.

He agreed that the band had improved but stated, regarding the parade incident, "There is a situation where I saw a total lack of discipline in front of the public. I saw a teacher show total disregard for her office and her students. Yes, I saw a big problem."

According to Benvenuti, who said he had been appointed to the board but had not yet taken office at the time, he and his family were standing at the side of US-90 when the Krewe of Triton parade stopped with the band directly in front of him.

He had seen the band earlier that day in the Krewe of Real People parade. "They walked by. They didn't play any music but they looked like they had their act together."

In front of a packed boardroom that included people standing along the walls and students sitting on the floor holding signs, Benvenuti explained how the band acted at Triton.

He said some of the band members sat down on the pavement, then put their instruments down. After a few minutes, some of the students lay down on the ground.

Benvenuti said he then noticed the drum major, who had been at the back of the band, making his way up to the middle and apparently attempting to get the students to stand.

"Some discussion took place about playing some Mardi Gras music," he said, adding that Jones then came up to the drum major and asked him what was going on.

"He said something to the effect that they were going to play some music, then she said something like do you think these people want to hear music, something to that effect."

"I was on the side and I said, 'sure, we'd like to hear some music.' With that she put her nose in the air, puffed on her cigarette and went back to the front of the band."

Deakle then asked Benvenuti whether he was drinking on the day of the parade. The board member said no, although he did not deny having used alcohol at previous parades.

The board member also stated that he had never attempted to discuss what he had seen with her, although he was aware that she had come to the board to discuss the Wilkerson letter on one occasion and had been turned away.

Until Tuesday night and the executive session prior to the meeting, he said he had never been made aware that Jones had not been notified by her principal or other school administrators about the incident.

EXECUTIVE SESSION OFFERED Benvenuti told Deakle that Jones had been offered the option of discussing her nonreemployment in executive session.

"At this point, from what I have seen, I want some assurance of acceptable behavior from her students."

Deakle then asked if it is the board's policy to dismiss teachers without notifying them that someone is dissatisfied with their performance.

After Benvenuti again stated that it is the policy of the board to allow executive session discussions of such matters with teachers, Deakle repeated the question and Benvenuti reaffirmed that, to his knowledge, she was never notified regarding the conduct of her students at the parade.

He said that she would have been asked, had the meeting been in executive session, to provide the board with some assurance that there would be no future breaches of discipline like the one that occurred at the parade.

"Then we would proceed from there," the board member explained.

Under cross-examination by Board Attorney Lucien Gex, Benvenuti added that he did not recall whether any dissenting votes were cast the night the board agreed to take Jones' name off the list of teachers being recommended for reemployment.

CARTER TESTIFIES

The next witness Deakle called was Board Member L.D. Carter, one of the two elected trustees.

Carter said he remembered that Ladner has recommended Jones to Oge' and then Oge' made the teacher recommendations to the board.

He said the meeting was on March 30, the night before the state's March 31 deadline for notifying teachers who would not receive contracts for the coming school year.

"We were in agreement that we wanted to hear her side but couldn't do it. It would have been important to talk to the principal and look at the files and we would like to have done it in executive session," Carter explained.

"We were limited by the time in which we had to get out those letters."

One thing he said was not considered was Deakle's contention that in a small school system such as the Bay-Waveland district, the identities of Jones and other teachers not renewed would not remain secret.

Carter added that prior to the meeting, there had been no advance discussion on Jones' case.

Benvenuti had agreed with Deakle's contention, which he supported with a letter to the editor from a recent issue of Sea Coast Echo, that the band had improved.

Carter did not agree.

"I think the band has held its own. There have been some problems and I don't think it has advanced as far as it had under prior leadership," the board member said, stating that two of his children are former band members but that he no longer attends band functions.

When Deakle asked if the parade incident was "of such gravity that this lady...should not deserve to work in this school district next year," Carter replied, "I agree with the letter."

The board member also made several statements about wanting to handle Jones' case in executive session.

"If this was done as it should have been done, these proceedings would not be going on," Carter said.

"We're not saying it is wrong," he added, referring to open session. "We're saying we could have protected this lady's career if we had been able to hear her side of it."

He again contended that the board had taken action on Benvenuti's complaint because the deadline for the letters of notification was the following day.

Carter had also not discussed the parade incident with Jones and said that the board members may not deal with individual teachers. He also did not know whether she had been counseled about it by other teachers, her principal or other administrators.

Carter is first vice commander of American Legion Post 77 in Waveland, not the same post to which Wilkerson belongs. He contended, as Benvenuti did, that the Wilkerson letter was not involved in the decision.

He added that he knew Jones had once come to the board to discuss, but that when the board came out of private discussion, they had been informed by their president that the matter was settled and Jones was gone. He did not say whether the Wilkerson letter had come up in later discussion.

When Deakle asked whether, assuming that Jones admitted to fault in the parade incident and assured the board it would not happen again, the board would consider her assurance in its decision.

"I would give it great consideration that in fact she was doing her job, if we are assuming, as you asked," Carter replied.

He did not see her personnel file either, he said.

Deakle asked that the personnel file be entered into evidence, adding that it contained only a resume.

Carter agreed with Deakle's contention that the past administration had apparently been lax about written reprimands, supporting his own earlier statement that the teacher hearings were "a first."

Under cross-examination by Gex, Carter said he had not been contacted by Gary Adam or his mother, Carol Adam, regarding the application for band director.

OTHER BOARD MEMBERS SPEAK

Reginald Robinson, another board member, was called as the third witness. He said he had voted with the other board members not to rehire Jones but had stated at the time that he was not acquainted with the band director.

Robinson also said he did not believe Benvenuti's complaint was enough, taken by itself, to justify nonreemployment.

Diboll testified regarding the Wilkerson letter, explaining that she was on the board when the matter came up.

Diboll said she did not see Jones come to the boardroom door but had been told by another board member that the board president had turned the teacher away.

She also stated she does feel the band is moving forward under Jones' direction and that she did not think the parade incident was sufficiently severe to warrant nonreemployment.

She also said she felt that although the board had acted properly, complaints usually come to board members through the principals and Oge'.

She added that there was not an actual vote but that the general consensus of the board was not to rehire Jones.

Linda Penrose, the other elected trustee, was shown the letter to the editor praising the band and asked if she felt the band was moving forward. She replied that she does not read newspapers.

She also said she believed the parade incident was sufficiently severe to warrant a notice of nonreemployment.

Although she did not recall who brought up the matter, she said the Wilkerson letter was discussed before the vote was taken.

After the board members completed testimony, Oge' and Ladner were called as witnesses.

Oge' said he knew of no misconduct by Jones prior to the night Benvenuti described the parade incident.

He also said he did not remember the Wilkerson letter being discussed at the meeting, although he understood that the previous administration had known about it and had not heard Jones' side of the story.

He said he believed the parade incident allegations were "of sufficient severity to have Mrs. Jones discuss the matter with the board."

He said he had recommended her, and that although Jones has 17 years of experience and a master's degree, the letter expressing the reasons she was not recommended for reemployment would remain in her file if she were ultimately not rehired.

If she were ultimately rehired, the letter would probably be removed because it would have been proven to be without basis, he added.

Oge' said he would have arranged to hear Jones' side of the story had there been sufficient time.

"At this point, if Mrs. Jones had a satisfactory explanation and if Mrs. Jones would give satisfactory assurance to the board that it would not happen in the future, I am sure as a professional educator I could recommend she be rehired," Oge' said, after stating that new information had recently become available.

He also stated that under the school's current evaluation system, Jones had received "very satisfactory remarks" from her supervisor.

Ladner, the principal, was the next witness and explained that the band had improved since Jones took over the program and that he had recommended she be rehired.

He told Gex he had heard no complaint about the Krewe of Triton parade, which he had not attended. He also stated that it had been a "standard tradition" for the band to march in both the Krewe of Real People and Triton parades on Mardi Gras Day.

Ladner said he received complaints from Jones last year regarding the 4.5 mile length of the Triton parade and knew about her discussion with other directors involved. He also said she wrote a letter to Triton organizers in an attempt to have the parade shortened.

Deakle read a copy of the letter, addressed to Triton Parade Marshal John Deem.

The letter stated that all high school bands involved used junior high students and the 2.5 miles with continuous movement rather than frequent stops would be, in Jones' opinion, best for the young students. If the parade could not be shortened, she asked that the marching units could be inserted at Choctaw Plaza Shopping Center rather than beginning with the rest of the parade at Our Shopping Center.

Ladner said that to his knowledge the letter was never acknowledged, but he agreed that its contents were indicative of concern for the students.

he also said discipline had improved with successive semesters under Jones' direction and that he did not object to allowing students to sit down during a stop if the parade length were the reason.

PROFESSIONAL OPINIONS The final witnesses Tuesday were two other band directors, question mostly about what they would have done under similar circumstances.

The first, Carol Choina, recently became band director at St. Stanislaus but had been teaching 13 years and had assisted Jones about three days per month over the past two years.

She testified that as director of Hancock North Central, she had found three reasons for marching in parades, which she does not count as educational.

On one occasion, the Hancock band was neither directed to do so nor intending to entertain band supporters, and marched in a 10-mile parade in Chalmette, La., for the third reason -- a need for money.

"We practically crawled to get through that parade," she explained.

She said she had never seen a lack of discipline on Jones' part and did not consider letting students sit down during a 4.5 mile parade a breach of discipline after her experience with the 10 mile parade.

When asked if she would let her band sit during a parade stop, she said, "Not after what I've heard tonight, certainly not."

Choina received a round of applause from spectators for her answer.

The second director, William A. Merton of Gulfport High School, has directed for 25 years.

He said he saw nothing he would, as a professional, consider wrong in Jones' actions.

He also said that he would allow his band to sit under the same circumstances, although in his 25-year career his bands have never marched in more than one parade in the same day or in a parade more than two miles long.

Jesse Jackson has given Major League Baseball until July 4 to improve its minority hiring practices (some would say begin them), especially in the management area. Baseball does have its problems, with only Henry Aaron, the Atlanta Braves' Director of Player Development, holding a high management position. But is it Reverend Jackson's place to give the league a date before protests and pickets begin? Shouldn't this start with the minority players and former players—the people that would have the most effect? Something needs to be done in professional baseball about minority hiring, but one man shouldn't control the fate of the league. If Jackson wants to help with the problem, he should practice diplomacy, not terrorism. The time for change has come in baseball, and Jackson could help bring it about. But if he tries to force it to happen, he may do more damage than help.

The National Football League is beginning, slowly, to recognize the place of minorities in the sport. Gene Upshaw is the President of the National Football League Players Association. It also looks as though a black head coach will join the ranks within the next few years, with qualified candidates like Pittsburgh's defensive coordinator Tony Dungy being groomed for a head coaching opportunity. Yet there are problems in the NFL. In 1986, for example, the Philadelphia Eagles nearly hired 37-year-old David Smith as their head coach instead of Dungy or other more qualified black candidates. The job eventually went to Buddy Ryan. The NFL does have problems in their affirmative action program, but they seem to be working through them. The problem is not something that can be solved by July 4, and Jesse Jackson must realize that. Let's hope he does, and that he is only trying to open the eyes of the baseball hierarchy. If that is the case, then keep up the good work, Reverend. ©1987, McNaught Synd.

Summer gymnastics scheduled at Southern HATTIESBURG—The University of Southern Mississippi will serve as headquarters for a seven-stage competitive gymnastics program this summer.

KIPS gymnastics team members will spend two to four hours per week in the gym learning new skills and routines. They will compete in intrasquad meets until reaching a certain skill level and age, then move to external competition.

The external competition—Class IV, III, II, I and Elite (OLYMPIC PROGRAM)—is guided by the United States Gymnastics Federation.

To be accepted onto the competitive team, candidates must be tested and interviewed by coach Bret Carter.

For more information, call USM's Division of Lifelong Learning at (801) 266-4201 or write Southern Station Box 5056, Hattiesburg, Miss., 39406-5056.

Gulfport was recently built and dedicated to this research effort.

The newly constructed facility is the joint project of the Mississippi Power Company and Mississippi State University.

Researchers want to see if redfish can be grown as successfully as farm-raised catfish.

"Redfish may have the potential for commercial production," said Randy Robinette, MSU wildlife and fisheries specialist. "But we are looking at several biological factors and whether commercial redfish production can be profitable."

The facility is already stocked with redfish that should begin spawning in late summer or early fall. The brood fish are kept in specially aerated, filtered tanks.

Once the redfish have spawned and the eggs have hatched, the fry will be held in separate tanks until they are five or six inches long. By then, the 26 ponds, still under construction, will be ready for stocking.

Researchers say the fish will be ready for harvesting by next December.

Between now and then, scientists will be researching water quality requirements, nutritional requirements, stocking rates, disease problems and growth rates to see if it is feasible to raise redfish in much the same way as catfish. They hope to have some answers about commercial redfish production within five years.

Touring drama to tell story of U.S. Constitution

As a salute to the bicentennial celebration of the U.S. Constitution in 1787, a musical presentation on the creation of the historic document will be performed at the William Colmer Visitor Center in Ocean Springs on Sunday, at 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

Superintendent Jerry Eubanks said the production was commissioned by CIGNA Corporation and the National Park Service, who also are co-sponsors of the national tour.

"Four Little Pages" is an original one-act musical play dealing with the events surrounding the Constitutional Convention of 1787. Through humor, spirited music and historical fact, the 25-minute performance provides "one of the best history lessons I've ever experienced," according to Dr. Raymond Smock, historian for the U.S. House of Representatives.

"Four Little Pages" was created by Franklin Roberts, associates of Philadelphia expressly for the Bicentennial celebration. It premiered before members of Congress in Washington, D.C. and is touring throughout the nation.

"This is the first event of a nationwide program planned by the National Park Service to stimulate interest in our Constitution—a document that still profoundly affects us all," said National Park Service Director William Penn Mott. "We are delighted to join hands in this educational venture with CIGNA Corporation."

"We believe that audiences throughout the nation will be enlightened and enriched by this unique historical entertainment," said Robert D. Kilpatrick, Chairman and CEO of CIGNA. "It pays tribute to all those who shaped our Constitution as well as all those who have lived and will continue to live in a country guided by its flexibility and strength."

The musical production is a major element in the national effort being developed and encouraged by the Federal Commission of the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution appointed last year by President Reagan and chaired by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

All performances are free of charge and open to the public. "We are very pleased to be able to offer this excellent production to the local community," said Eubanks.

"Four Little Pages" is scheduled to appear at Gulf Islands National Seashore, William Colmer Visitor Center, Ocean Springs, Mississippi, on Sunday, June 7, 1987, at 1 p.m. and again at 3 p.m. Reservations are requested due to limited seating and can be made by calling (601) 875-0321.

New state record bass caught

JACKSON—Most Mississippi bass fishermen knew one day it would happen, but were never really sure where and when. They knew there was a largemouth bass in some body of water bigger than thirteen pounds-eight ounces.

On May 3 Perry Reed of Ripley caught a fourteen-pound twelve-ounce largemouth from Tiptah County Lake to become the new state record holder for that species.

Reed, 22, caught theunker largemouth on bait casting equipment and ten pound test line with a plastic worm.

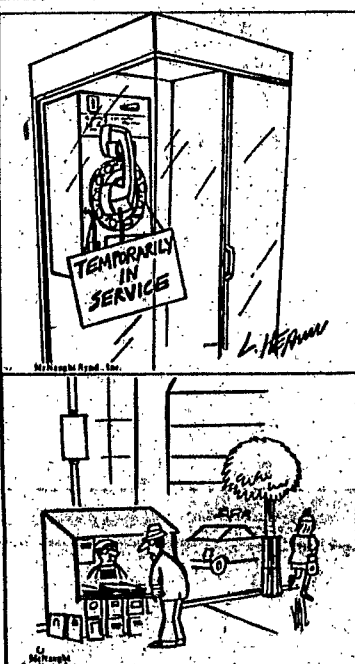

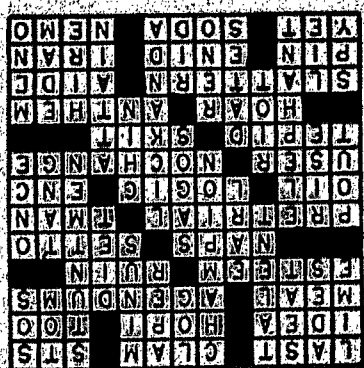

The record fish measured over twenty-seven inches long and almost twenty-five inches around.

Tiptah County Lake is a 165-acre lake about two miles north of Ripley on state Highway 15. It was impounded by the Soil Conservation Service in 1974.

The lake is managed by the Department of Wildlife Conservation. Facilities there include concession stand, rest rooms, boat ramp, picnic tables, barbecue grills, swimming area, overnight camping area with electrical and water hookups.

Answer to Puzzle

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By Jim Henrie

Did you know that a man can be the winning pitcher in a baseball game even though he never threw a pitch to a batter? How is this possible? This actually happened once in a minor league game. A relief pitcher came into the game with 2 out in the top of the 9th. Before throwing a pitch to the plate, he picked the runner off first base retiring the side. Then, his team scored the winning run in the last of the 9th, and so he was the winning pitcher—without ever throwing a pitch to a batter.

One of the oddest things that ever happened in a major golf tournament happened to pro golfer Tony Jacklin. He was playing a tournament some years ago and hit a 300-yard long shot that landed right in a spectator's pocket—without any injury to the spectator!

Did you ever wonder what was the smallest crowd ever to see a major league baseball game? The record low was set at a National League game in 1890 in Pittsburgh. Official paid attendance at that game—4.

Law enforcement run slated in Rankin

PEARL—The Seventh Annual Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Cross-Country 5K (3.1 mile) Run, cosponsored by the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy and the Mississippi Track Club, will be on Saturday, June 13.

The event will be held on the grounds of the training academy, located on Highway 468 east of Whitfield near Pearl in Rankin County. On-site registration begins at 6 a.m. and the run starts at 8 a.m.

"The run is open to everyone, but we encourage all law enforcement officers to enter, especially as three member teams representing their department," said Charles Alexander, acting director of the academy.

"This is an opportunity for the general public and law enforcement officers to meet in a non-confrontational setting and just have a good time together," he said.

Gov. Bill Allain is scheduled to present trophies and awards to the winning runners and teams.

First, second, and third place trophies will be awarded to winners in overall men, overall women, masters, grandmasters, and law enforcement team categories, and to the youngest and oldest runners finishing the run.

Medals will be presented to the winners of 12 age divisions for men and six age divisions for women. However, no duplication of awards will be made between the categories and the age divisions.

For those who register before May 30 the fee will be $6. The fee will be $9 if a T-shirt is desired. After May 30 the entry fee increases to $7 and $10. Packets for those who pre-register may be picked up anytime after May 29 at the academy.

Registration forms for the event may be obtained at the academy, the Mississippi Track Club, or at most law enforcement agencies.

A drawing will be held for door prizes after the run, and food and refreshments will be offered.

Staying cool as possible

MISSISSIPPI STATE—The key to cutting summer energy costs is to use the air conditioner as little as possible or not at all.

It is possible according to Dr. Carol M. Short, an energy program specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "Learning to rely less on air conditioning does not mean saying goodbye to comfort," she said.

Think of the air conditioner as a heat pump that removes heat and moisture from the air inside a home and pumps it to the outside. Keeping this thought in mind, look for ways to control heat and moisture in the home. Short provided ideas on how to decrease the use of air conditioning and saving money on utility bills.

Shading the home with large shade trees is a good long-term strategy for heat control because trees shade not only windows, but also the entire house. A shaded roof helps to keep the attic cool, reducing heat gain through the ceiling. Light-colored shingles also make a difference, as does adequate attic ventilation.

Short said to avoid electrically powered attic ventilators as they will not save any more electricity than they consume in their operation.

"Proper attic insulation slows heat gain," she said. "By adding only 3.5 inches of R-11 insulation to an uninsulated attic, ceiling heat gain is cut 80 percent."

Be sure to keep the home closed tightly when the air conditioner is running. Closing windows and storm windows, turning off exhaust fans and closing fireplace dampers will provide for more efficient air conditioning.

Reducing the heat given off by electric and gas appliances can result in a double savings. Electric appliances produce 3,413 British thermal units of heat for each kilowatt hour of electricity consumed.

Save air conditioning costs by raising the thermostat setting. Each degree increase can result in a savings of 4 percent. Short said thus raising the thermostat from 78 to 82 degrees Fahrenheit can result in a summer savings of 16 percent.

If 82 degrees sounds warm for summer comfort, try turning on a fan. Ceiling fans and whole-house fans are enjoying renewed popularity and can add to one's comfort level.

"Comfort studies show that moving air can compensate for an increase of four to six degrees in temperature without any loss of comfort," she said. "The fan is much less expensive to operate than the air conditioner."

Since the air conditioner also acts as a dehumidifier to keep excess moisture from making the home uncomfortable, alternative methods of moisture control help to relieve the air conditioner's work load.

Make sure the clothes dryer is

CONO CARANNA

Cicadas to make 13-year return

Song of the cicada

MISSISSIPPI STATE—It has been four years since Mississippians last encountered the periodical cicada, but residents along the eastern border of the state should start seeing and hearing the noisy insect again in the next few days.

Cicadas are expected to emerge along about a 50-mile span running north and south of the eastern border of the state, said Dr. James Jarratt, an entomologist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

"People in this area will soon be hearing loud, shrill noises in the afternoon, known as the song of the cicada," Jarratt said. "The noise will last for three-fourths of the day for two to three weeks."

The cicada, although a noise nuisance, poses no real threat to gardens or crops.

The entomologist said the egg-laying habits of these insects will cause some die-back on the terminal leaves of trees. But, the only place this will cause damage is on the branches of fruit trees.

"There is not a great deal that can be done about either the noise or the egg laying habits of cicadas," Jarratt said.

The cicada is not a locust, but is often mistaken for this member of the grasshopper family because cicadas can appear at times in large numbers.

According to Jarratt, there are two types of cicadas. One is referred to as dog-day cicada, and Mississippians see this one every year when it emerges from the soil in July and August.

"These are large, black insects with greenish markings," Jarratt said. "Their life-cycle takes two to five years to complete, but the broods overlap so some adults appear every year."

The insect that has the state under siege now, however, is what entomologists call the periodical cicada that emerges in May and June.

The periodical cicada is about half the size of the dog-day cicada and the eyes and veins in the wings are red. The life cycle of this group lasts either 13 or 17 years, and in any given area, adults may not be present every year.

Cicadas emerging now are the 13-year cicada and were last seen in large numbers in Mississippi in 1983. The 1983 appearance was the 19th brood and it will not be seen again until 1996. Cicadas Mississippians are seeing this year are members of the 21st brood of the 13-year-cicada and will be seen again in 2000.

Cicadas spend only about 30 to 45 days as adults. The adults will mate after a period of singing by the male. Soon after mating, the females will start laying eggs.

"When the larvae emerge from the eggs, they fall to the ground and burrow into the soil where they stay for two to 17 years depending on their type," Jarratt said.

Cono Caranna has announced his candidacy for reelection to the office of District Attorney for the 2nd Circuit Court District which includes Harrison, Hancock and Stone counties.

"I have attempted to restore public confidence in local law enforcement and work with children in local schools," Caranna said.

"Under my leadership, the DA's office has issued more indictments, tried more cases, and won more convictions than ever before in the history of this district. My office also has one of the highest conviction rates in the state and has sent more convicted criminals to Parchman than any other district in South Mississippi," he continued.

"I believe our efforts have been successful," said Caranna. "Public trust in law enforcement has never been greater. I'm proud to be a member of the team that has returned responsibility to our community."

Caranna said more than one million dollars in confiscated automobiles and money that his office has filed to collect from drug pushers has been turned over to local law enforcement agencies to continue their efforts.

In addition to his work in the courtroom, Caranna has spent hundreds of extra hours working with school and civic leaders to establish important programs in local schools, the candidate said.

"My pioneering Latchkey and Meology programs have drawn wide praise from educators and community leaders alike," he said.

"We've established these programs for our children so that they can learn to avoid peer pressure and make good, responsible decisions," said Caranna. "Now, our most important task is to build on our successes in the courtroom and throughout our community."

Caranna was awarded the Bronze Star for heroism and two oak leaf clusters, the Air Medal, and the Purple Heart and other United States and Republic of Vietnam awards.

He has served on the board of directors of the Mississippi Prosecutors Association from 1984 to present, as commissioner of the Mississippi Bar Association, state president of the City Attorneys Association, and president of the Harrison County Bar Association.

In addition, he is a member of the National District Attorneys Association, the American Trial Lawyers Association, the Association of Government Attorneys in Capital Litigation, the American Bar Association, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the American Legion, among other national, state and local organizations.

Kindergarteners learn old ways at Frontier Day

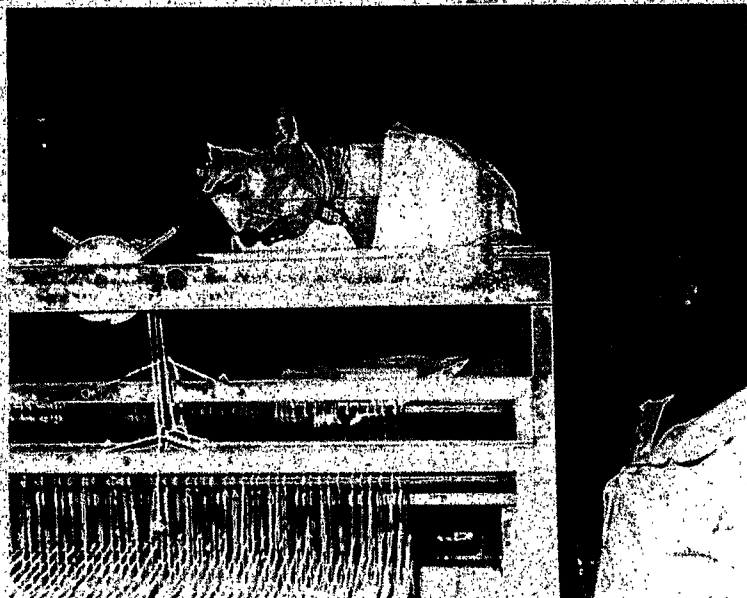

MEETING A HORSE—Bubba Bennett of Pearlington, left, holds the tail of a horse while kindergarten students pet the animal and inspect its western-style saddle.

WOODWORKER B.J. Richardson, center, demonstrates how he does some of his projects while several students watch. Richardson allowed students to try his craft by letting them place the pegs in a wooden rack for hats and coats.

NEW SHOES—C.A. Russ of Pearlington holds a horse while Chester Vonador of Long Beach puts a new shoe on one of the animal's forefeet. The horse was supplied by Debbie Bennett, also of Pearlington.

CAROL VEGAS shows a student how her loom works as she weaves cloth. Vegas also demonstrated the use of a spinning wheel.

NATURAL FOODS—Lorraine Strom, left, serves sassafras tea to a group of second graders visiting her natural foods exhibit. Among the items available for sampling were boiled cattail corn-on-the-cob and pine nuts.

BEVERLEY ROOKS, dressed in an old-fashioned bonnet, long dress and apron, makes a basket from willow in one of the demonstrations featured at Frontier Day.

FRONTIER DAY—A group of third and fourth grade students from North Bay and Waveland Elementary Schools display their square dancing costumes at Frontier Day, a day-long program ending a social studies unit on farming and the Old West. The event, a cooperative effort of kindergarten teachers at the two schools and North Bay Principal Roger James, featured several volunteers who provided demonstrations of old crafts.

Girls State moves to USM

HATTIESBURG—Four hundred high school girls will gather on the University of Southern Mississippi campus June 6-12 to form their own state—the fictitious 51st State of Magnolia.

They are not seceding from Mississippi, but will be participants in the 40th annual Mississippi Girls' State Convention.

Traditionally held at Hinds Junior College in Jackson, the convention is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

USM's Division of Lifelong Learning will help coordinate this year's event, which was moved to USM because of a need for additional space.

Agnes Wilkerson of Bay St. Louis, chairman and director of the Mississippi Girls' State program, said the convention "had outgrown the facilities at Hinds and the move was made to USM because of the availability of facilities needed to handle such a large group."

Dorothy Bielstein of Waveland and Anna Gayout of Bay St. Louis are the program chairman for Units 77 and 139, respectively.

Delegates, girls entering their senior year in high school, are nominated by local American Legion Auxiliaries from across the state.

Wilkerson, a 1972 delegate to Girls' State, said the criteria for nomination includes scholarship, Americanism, interest in the program and leadership qualities.

"The girls actually run their own state, from city and county levels all the way to statewide elections," Wilkerson said.

The state of Magnolia includes 10 cities and five counties. State and local leaders from across Mississippi will address delegates during the seven-day convention, contributing to their education about the political process.

Convention and travel expenses for delegates sponsored by Units 77 and 139 are paid by the units.

GIRLS' STATE DELEGATES— Leaving Saturday for the 1987 Girls' State Convention on the USM campus in Hattiesburg are the delegates sponsored by Bay St. Louis American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 139, including, from left, Nicole Montagnet of Pass Christian, Jennifer Burrows of Pearl River, Crystal Davidson and Jan Scardino, both of Pass Christian, and Angeliqe Bell of Bay St. Louis, all seniors at Our Lady Academy, and Michelle Fulllove of Long Beach High. Delegates not pictured are Sabrina Kersanae of OLA, Melissa Harville and Dawn Hardy, both residents of Waveland and seniors at Bay High, and Becky Goellner and Karen Ann Rhodes, both of Jackson. (Echo staff photo by Edgar Perez)

GIRLS' STATE— University of Southern Mississippi Vice President for Research and Extended Services Dr. Karen Yarbrough, left, and Dr. Gene Tannon, dean of the USM Division of Lifelong Learning, center, and Agnes Wilkerson of Bay St. Louis finalize plans for the 40th annual Girls' State convention to be held June 6-12 on the Hattiesburg campus. Wilkerson is chairman and director of the Mississippi Girls' State Convention. Some 400 high school girls are expected to participate in the weeklong session that focuses on governmental operations. (USM Public Relations photo)

Ladner also of Kiln sign up early for the Summer Reading Program at the Kiln Library. The Summer Reading Program is offered each year at the City-County, Waveland and Kiln Libraries. This year's activities will start on June 9 and end on July 16. Registration will continue at the three libraries until June 9.

Taylor scholarship winners announced

Senator Gene Taylor of Bay St. Louis reports recipients of the Taylor scholarships for 1987 are Sharon Ramond of Bay Senior High School, Blake Browne of Hancock North Central High School, Robert Orr of Harrison Central High School and Thu-Phuong Hoang of St. Martin High School.

All four students will be attending Mississippi junior colleges in the fall.

"When the legislative pay raise was first proposed I said that I would vote against the measure. If it passed, however, I would give the salary increase away in scholarships," Taylor stated.

"Although I am disappointed that we failed by one vote to defeat the measure, I am happy to see that this money will be used to help these fine young people get a start on their college educations," he added.

The scholarship winners were selected by the respective school guidance counselors, the senator noted.

LIFE'S LITTLE UPS AND DOWNS

Do your children tell you everything? If they have taken a spill, fallen off a bike, or injured themselves playing football, you may be the last to know. That's why it's important to give your children a Chiropractic Checkup regularly. Many times, untreated childhood accidents turn into spinal distortions that may not show up for months or years. Parents never really know how many little bumps, knocks, and falls their children have had. Why take a chance? Bring your family in for a Chiropractic Checkup. CALL TODAY!

Area teacher to serve as regional writing judge

URBANA, Ill. — The National Council of Teachers of English announces the appointment of Kay Lovelace, Hancock North Central School, as a regional judge for the 1987 NCTE Achievement Awards in Writing.

Through this nationally recognized competition, now in its 30th year, approximately 800 high school seniors are cited for excellence in writing, and are recommended to colleges and universities for admission and for financial aid, if needed.

Over 6,000 students were nominated for NCTE awards in 1986. Results are announced in October of each year.

Students are nominated for Achievement Awards in Writing by their high school English departments and are chosen for recognition by state judging committees. Each nominee submits an impromptu theme and a sample of his or her best writing to be judged.
